ELEVEN MEN SAVED FROM SEA

Newport News, Va., April 9.—Bringing the dead body of Captain Johnson and 11 survivors of the crew of the Norwegian bark Orellana, which was sunk off Burnegat, N. J., last night at ten o'clock, the American steamer Peter H. Crowell, arrived here tonight from Boston. The two men went down with the Orellana and the captain was dead when taken from the water.

Details of the wreck were hard to obtain as the Crowell had not docked and will not land the survivors until tomorrow. Captain A. L. Kent, shore captain for the Crowell and Thurlow Steamship Company of Boston, owners of the Crowell, and Capt. Vail of the steamer refused to comment on any information.

The only authentic account obtained was secured from Norwegian Consul M. M. Richardson, to whom a report of the disaster was made, but who has not yet been supplied with the names of the survivors of the two men who went down with the bark.

Captain Vail reported to Consul Richardson, that the collision occurred during misty weather with the sea calm and was due to the poor lights displayed by the Orellana. The Crowell struck the bark while steaming almost full speed. The wooden ship tilted rapidly and fifty minutes after being struck sank in fifty fathoms of water.

Sailors in Panic

Captain Vail said that great confusion prevailed aboard the bark following the crash. Captain Johnson losing control of the men entirely. The sailors after Captain Johnson and the mate had succeeded in getting the latter's wife into one of the two boats piled into them so wildly that both were swamped. In the meantime the Crowell was standing by and Captain Vail had ordered his life boats lowered and Captain Johnson, the woman, and ten men were picked up.

Captain Johnson, who was sixty years of age was dead when taken to one of the rescue boats and his death is thought to have been due to heart disease aggravated by the excitement of the wreck. Two members of the crew failed to leave in the boats and went down with the ship. Whether they misjudged the time the vessel would stay afloat or were left to die aboard the bark could not be learned tonight.

In their haste to leave the bark, members of the crew did not stop to get their personal belongings and some were scantily clad and all were half frozen from their stay in the water between the time their boats were swamped and the time they were picked up by the rescue boats. They were taken to the Crowell and made comfortable for the remainder of the night. The Orellana was 57 days out from Rouloane, France for New York and the Crowell was bound from Boston to this port.

PREMIER CHARGED WITH EXTORTION OF $100,000

Frederickton, N. B., April 9.—The New Brunswick Legislature this afternoon began the consideration of charges lodged by Louis Agassiz Dugal, a member of the Provincial Legislature, against Premier J. K. Fleming and other Government members. Mr. Dugal alleges that the premier extorted from lessees of crown timber licenses $100,000, no part of which reached the provincial treasury, and that his orders on the St. John and Quebec Railway work had paid large sums to Government members as the price of obtaining contracts. He charges also that a large amount of the money resulting from the sale of bonds guaranteed by the Government was diverted from its proper channel.

REPUBLICANS IN MAINE MEET

Augusta, Me., April 9.—An effort to have the Republican state convention today recommend the nomination of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate for President in 1916, met with failure. A resolution proposed by the Yarmouth Republican caucus was introduced as an amendment to the platform and ruled out of order.

The resolutions adopted by the Republican national committee fixed the basis of representation in the next national convention were approved with out objection.

The convention paused in its deliberations to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. William M. N. Stevens, the dead temperance leader, and the first woman to be honored by the placing of the state flag as a half mast.

A resolution was adopted by a rising vote, the delegates standing with uncovered heads.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted without debate except except on the question of lodge books. An amendment to declare for a law to prevent the railroads of Maine charging a greater sum than two cents a mile was defeated. The question referred the question to the proposed public utilities commission.

The platform declared the national Democratic administration for its hurried surrender to Great Britain in the matter of the Panama Canal, for the "violation of platform pledges" and for its vague and vacillating policy in dealing with conditions in Mexico.

National prohibition was favored and a proposal to prohibit Maine prohibition liquor law was proposed. The Underwood tariff law is believed to be "unjustly sectional" and a menace to our industries and the party's belief in protective tariff was reaffirmed.

A workmen's compensation law, a 54 hour law for women and children, woman's suffrage, ballot reform and a presidential preference primary were advocated and the administration of Governor Haines and the Maine public utilities act was commended.

The delegates listened to addresses by Congressman P. H. Kelley of Michigan, and Congressman John A. Peters of Maine, who resided as chairman, former Governor Haines, former Governor Bert M. Fernald and William T. Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Windrich of Commercial street on Thursday evening announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Amy Windrich, to Walter H. Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donnell of Central street. The announcement was made in a most unique way. Ten young lady friends had been invited to spend the evening at their home, and for this occasion the rooms had been tastefully decorated in crepe paper of Easter colors and Easter lilies. Streamers of crepe paper had been festooned about the rooms, with the ends hanging from the center of the parlor ceiling, to which were attached pretty place cards for the guests, each of whom followed their streamer until the dining table was reached, where at every cover was placed a purple crepe paper bag, which the guests were requested to open. Each contained a "white cat" and around its neck was tied a card on which were engraved the names, "Miss Amy Natalia Windrich, Walter Hall Donnell." As soon as the guests recovered from their surprise they extended the heartiest of congratulations to their friend. A dainty collation was then served the menu comprising grape fruit, lobster salad, assorted sandwiches, fancy crackers, ice cream with chocolate sauce, bon bons and salted nuts. The whole evening was most pleasantly passed in social conversation and music, and the guests at a late hour departed, extending best wishes to their friends. ## MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK

If Tongue is Coated or if Cries, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours "Company." Hand back with contempt is made by the "California Fig Syrup" any other fig syrup.

TOMORROW

Onward to move against the throng
Who jostle on this rolling sphere,
And feebly murmur, this my song,
We shall all shortly disappear.

A little month, a passing year,
And we have reached life's journey's end,
Beyond the point of grief and fear,
The land of promise, home and friend.

Still there will float in upper air
A storm cloud on its trackless way,
And fawning doves will coo and pair
As fondly as they do today.

There will be the unborn millions
Near,
Their temples high throughout the land,
While crumbling, ours shall disappear
Beneath Time's all destructive hand.

Heroes will lead in unknown deeds,
And ships make havoc on the deep,
New kings expand and break their creeds,
New babies in their cradles sleep.

Thus runs the busy world away,
Without the breaking of that law
That has in universal sway
Dealt with our kings as men of straw.

'Tis well, we think, there is a power
Beyond the reach of human greed,
That nameth not the day or hour,
But bids us all alike take heed.

its construction, and who is a member of the committee on arrangements.

Hon. B. A. ## REBELS ARE PUSHING THE FIGHTING AT TAMPICO

Washington, April 9.—Overnight dispatches to the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Fletcher reported fighting still in progress at Tampico, with out advantages to either side. On account of a heavy norther, Rear Admiral Mayo was discouraging refugees from going aboard ships there.

Admiral Fletcher sent this report, received from Admiral Mayo, yesterday afternoon:

"Mayo reports fighting continues with no change, except that the gunboat Zaragoza is assisting the Vera Cruz in shelling Arbol Grande. On account of a norther and no advantage in fighting, an discouraging refugees from coming on board, three received few on Des Moines alongside dock."

"If rebels receive artillery, which seems to be improbable, conditions will be more serious. Reports circulated on shore that American battleships are supplying arms to the rebels."

Refuge to Be Given Upon Warships

The Admiral added that he had directed Admiral Mayo to give refuge to Americans and other foreigners on American vessels as far as possible. The department today suggested to Admiral Fletcher the possibility of taking the marines off the transport Pearl at Vera Cruz and sending that vessel to Tampico, to receive the refugees who cannot be cared for on the other ships without more or less inconvenience.

No More Warships to Be Sent

It is about settled that if an additional ship is sent to the East Coast it will be either a navy transport—possibly the Haheack, now at New Orleans—or a commercial vessel.

Officials here did not regard the shore report from Tampico that the rebels are receiving aid from the American battleships as worth commenting upon.

State Department officials said today that foreign property, especially the oil plants at Tampico, were in grave danger, but there was thought to be little danger to the lives of foreigners in the trouble zone.

Concerning conditions in Tampico the State Department issued this statement:

"From Vera Cruz wireless reports on the Tampico situation indicate that the situation as regards foreign property is complicated and serious. The Waters Pierce Oil refineries have been occupied by attacking forces during the last two days, and as a consequence have been under fire from the Federal gunboat in the harbor. A loss of the entire property is feared. The warehouses of the Agencia Commercial a German property, were burned, with a loss of $500,000."

Five Americans Are Released
From Ensenada it is reported that the situation at Mazatlan is tranquil. Five Americans arrested at Vera Cruz as a military precaution were released today. A consular report from Torreon says: "very good order" has been re-established there.

Brig Gen. Hugh L. Scott at El Paso reported to the War Department by wireless today that fighting was said to be in progress at San Pedro and Pecos, but he gave no details.

The Red Cross today called upon Dr. Stephenson, head of the El Paso Chapter, for a report concerning the needs of the Spanish refugees just arrived there.

Sec. Bryan said that Consular Agent Crothers was under instructions to continue his representations to Carranza for the protection of the property, which refugees left in Torreon and to obtain, if possible, permission for the Spaniards to return to their homes.

IS A STRATEGIC MOVE

Evacuation of Torreon So Described by Mexican War Minister—First Official Admission of It.

Mexico City, April 9.—The first admission that Gen. Villa and the rebel army had occupied Torreon is made by the Mexican Herald today. The newspaper however, states that Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, declares that Gen. Jose Refugio Velasco, the Federal commander, has not evacuated the city in the full sense of the word, but has made a strategic move which is expected to give the best results on the arrival of the Federal columns now on their way to Torreon.

According to Gen. Blanquet, a position has been established by Velasco at Cerro de la Cruz, from which place he dominates Torreon with his artillery.

The newspapers printed in Spanish do not make any mention of the capture of Torreon.

The Government announced through the newspapers today its intention of instituting a censorship of cable dispatches.

SCOTT HONORED AT EL PASO

Citizens of El Paso last night tendered a banquet to General Hugh H. Scott, commander at Fort Bliss, who leaves there next Saturday for Washington to assume his new duties as Assistant Chief of Staff of the Army. General Scott, one of the greatest authorities in the country on the Indian tribes, has been much active service. Zach T. Cobb, collector of customs here and a close personal friend of the general, in a tribute to the soldier, referred to a stirring campaign which the then Major Scott made against the Moros, Feb. 8 to March 1, 1904.

As the story was told every eye in the house was turned on the hands of the guest of the evening who quickly slid them beneath the table. Early in that campaign, Cobb related, two fingers on one hand and a finger of the other were shot away by the tribesmen. Polson got into the wounds and the major's hands were swollen. Although suffering such agony that he could not catch his urine, the American continued the campaign with a soldier leading his horse. He defeated the Moros and then, with his horse still led, returned to a hospital camp where he was given adequate attention.

HOW ELECTRICITY KEPT A STEAM SHOVEL GOING

By keeping currents of several hundred amperes flowing continuously through water pipes which otherwise would have been in danger of freezing, it was possible to continue construction.

tion work on hydroelectric development near Cedar, Quebec, without interruption during even the coldest days of the past winter. The pipes thus protected supplied water for the steam shovels and were laid above ground as continuous shifting prevented them from being buried. When the temperature was below zero and even as low as 27 degrees Fahrenheit, it was found that a relatively small amount of power would keep 1500 feet of one inch pipe from freezing, even with water standing in it.—Electrical World.

RAILROAD NOTES

No more 1000 mile mileage books are being sold by the Maine Central, but there was a very good market for them before the sale was discontinued. One may travel in this state alone, now at the two cent rate on the 500 mile book. It costs a quarter of a cent more over the Maine line.

Orders have been issued by the Boston and Maine that baskets of flowers on the way to market and peddlers' packs, which have heretofore been carried by the owners in passenger cars must be either checked as excess baggage and carried in baggage cars.

A work train from this city is hauling elders on the York Beach branch for filling at the ends of the bridge at York Harbor.

Mayor Woods, City Solicitor Moser, Townmaster O'Donnell and George C. Gill, president of the National bank, all of Holyoke, with Mayor Rivers and City Solicitor McDermott, both of Chicopee appeared before the committee on railroads at the state house yesterday in urgent protest to the amended bill for the purchase by the Boston and Maine railroad of the Chicopee Falls and Holyoke from connection with the railroad. City Solicitor Thomas Maher of Holyoke, conducted the case for the protestants.

At a meeting of Baltimore and Ohio directors, Robert S. Love, resigned, W. A. Harriman was elected to succeed him.

COAL DOWN TO SPRING PRICES

The local coal dealers today dropped the price of coal which is a drop of 50 cents on all grades, from the winter prices.

Ex-Alderman William Newlen, now a resident of Hartford, Conn., is making a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Newlen of Bartlett street.

MELLEN TO TELL WHAT HE KNOWS

Washington, April 9.—Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven Railroad, is scheduled to appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission at ten o'clock tomorrow to be examined in the matter of the relations between the New Haven and the J. L. Billard Company of Meriden. The Commission, whose demand he alleged to examine the books of the Billard Company, was refused new books to ascertain from Mr. Mellen if the connection between the two companies is such that this refusal amounts to a defiance.

The hearing will be the first of several hearings at which New Haven affairs will be again aired as a result of the Nuclea resolution.

Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven will come to Washington tomorrow to discuss with Attorney General McReynolds the list of trustees for the road's railway properties in Connecticut and Rhode Island. Special Attorney T. W. Gregory has returned from New England with a list of men among whom are said to be willing to accept service to enable the attorney general to make his selections. Several declarations to serve have made the process of selection easy. Announcement of the trustees is possible tomorrow.

NOTHING TO IT

"Mr. ? Chimpney" he presently said, "what is a poppinjay?"

Sister's head wrinkled. His father said:

"Why, a poppinjay is a vain fellow. 'Are you a bird, Mr. Chimpney?'"

"Certainly not!"

"That's funny. Ma said you was a poppinjay, and pa said there was no doubt about your being a jay, and sister said there was small hope of your poppin, and now you say you ain't a bird at all. That's funny."

And just then sister came into the room.—Cleveland Plain Dealer

"At 10 years it was," Pat replied, "and begorra, I'd never marry again so young if I lived to be the age of Methusalem."

POLICEWOMEN.

When the proposition to add women to the police forces of cities was first advanced it occasioned some amusement and the jokers and paragraphers had their day and their say. But the day of regarding the matter as a joke is near its end, if it has not already been reached, for it is being demonstrated that there are certain kinds of work that can be done by women police officers fully as well, if not better, than by men.

When the appointment of women as police was suggested the average person immediately drew a mental picture of a woman, perhaps not above medium size, collaring a six-foot and broad-shouldered thug and attempting to land him by physical force in the police station. Nothing of the sort is contemplated or ever was. There are enough policemen to attend to this kind of work. There is other work for the women, and there is reason to believe they will demonstrate a capacity to do it, and do it well.

From Chicago comes the report of a step that will commend itself to thinking people. There are 12 policewomen in that city. Two are to devote themselves to detective work, a field in which they should prove very valuable in many cases, and the other 10 are to serve in the railroad stations, where they will make themselves useful to women and girls coming to the city to stay or passing through it to points beyond.

People familiar with the bustle and confusion of a great city railroad station will instantly recognize the sense and merit of this plan. Women and girls traveling unattended will find the policewomen at their service, giving needed directions and protecting them against the designs and machinations of evil men and evil women. That the women officers will be able to do valuable work along this line there is no question, and the chances are that in the very near future most of the large cities of the country will be found following Chicago's excellent example. This can be said with no disparagement to the policemen, who as a rule are courteous and efficient, and who in many cases will be materially aided by the work of the women members of the force.

MEN OF THE NAVY SHOULD BE PERMITTED TO WEAR CIVILIAN DRESS.

According to the news dispatches the Secretary of the Navy has ordered that all men in the navy discard civilian dress while off duty. The order has not reached here and those who know whereof they speak claim such an order would be a serious mistake. Many officers claim that the men of the navy have never been so happy and contented as they are today and much of it is due to the freedom given them while off duty in civilian dress. They move about in private like any other citizen and this is as it should be. If the Secretary would modify his orders so as to refer to officers and men while on duty and have it include the many officers in Washington, he would render a distinct service. To make it compulsory for the men to appear in uniform when on leave and while not on duty is a mistake.

THROWING MILK AWAY.

Th-placing of food stuffs on the free list, which included milk, butter and eggs from Canada, was going to reduce the cost to the people, according to the advocates of the men on the stump. The milk-producers of Reading, Mass., have been pouring thousands of gallons on the grounds daily. This week they have been hauling it to Boston and giving it away on the public common to the people. The cause of this free milk is from the fact that the dealers can buy it in Canada cheaper than they can get it from the New England farmer.

The motor boat race from New York to San Francisco at the time of the exposition in 1915 will be the longest of its kind ever held and will be of interest to boatmen the world over. ## CURRENT OPINION

In China and Thereby Support American Schools Stimulate Trade.

Most of the modern education in China has been done by American missions. An article on "Commercial Possibilities" in the China Press, referring to this says, "America is beginning to derive benefits from her disinterested and altruistic efforts." Captain Fitz-Hugh called the attention of the British Engineers' association to the importance of such a fact as this, "The Young China party is composed almost entirely of returned students from America imbued with the idea that nothing is good except what comes from America."

The majority of the best schools in China are American mission schools. The question is what America is going to do to stimulate and strengthen this form of philanthropy, which, in the end, is sure to bring large returns to American trade and which has already been one of the most powerful factors in cementing the friendship of the Chinese and American peoples.

I WONDER

What all the hotel men are doing in Concord today?

If there is anything that looks like metal left on the old city farm buildings on Myrtle avenue?

GRANGE TAKES UP BRIDGE QUESTION

Now we might discuss this subject and agitate it right here in the lodge room but I can't see that much good would come from it unless we take further steps.

One thing we might do is to have this subject brought before the many Granges in Maine and New Hampshire. It could be done through the State Grange—or it might be done right here by sending out circulars or something of the kind to the neighboring Granges, which of course it seems to most concern and then on to the Granges throughout the states.

If by public sentiment it can be brought to the influential men, and those who have the power to see the need and benefit of freeing these bridges, the time will come more quickly when this will be done.

I read very recently that there would not be allowed any engines over a certain weight to pass over the (Portsmouth) bridge, therefore it must be in a very weak and dangerous condition and I have thought for a long time that some day there might be a terrible accident.

Now the individual Grange can do little, I believe, except to get the ball rolling, but there is a good deal of power in the co-operative Granges of the state, namely, the State Grange of New Hampshire, and also of Maine and through these there might be a lot done toward this work of freeing the toll bridges of Portsmouth.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Replies to Mr. Shaw.

Editor Portsmouth Herald:
As I was passing a house one day, a yonk came dashing out in a threatening manner, barking furiously. The dog's master presently appeared and rebuked him, saying, "Hold your tongue, Pido. You aren't half as bad as you think you are."

It seems to me that a similar admonition fully applies to brother Shaw regarding his recent fulmination in your columns. Those of us who know brother S. know that except for this aberration, he is a well-poised, law-abiding citizen and gentleman, and it seems but right that this should be known also by those who may not have the pleasure of his personal acquaintance, and who might otherwise think, judging by the style of articles he writes for the papers, that he is some wild-eyed anarchist or other form of rabid, free-thinking infidel.

The fact is brother Shaw is a great deal better than his professed disbeliefs and better than the class of people with which these so-called liberal views and ideas naturally align him.

Fortunately most of those persons holding such opinions as are put forth in his letters to the press keep them to themselves and have the good taste and judgment not to rush into print to the detriment of their own reputation rather than the established institutions they seek to attack.

CITY BUYS LOT FOR NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

Mayor Authorized to Appoint Building Committee by Council at Special Meeting--Mr. Ward's Generous Offer of Adjoining Lot Accepted.

The Mayor and Council at a special meeting on Thursday evening, purchased a lot on Lafayette road for a new school house, and the Mayor was authorized to appoint a building committee to act in conjunction with the Board of Instruction.

The Council met with the Mayor in his office and heard the report of the special committee of the Board of Instruction, and it was 9:20 before they adjourned to the Council chamber and were called to order.

Mayor Yeaton presided and the full Council was present.

The report of the special committee of the Board of Instruction, Messrs. Hodgson, Knight and Towle, was read, recommending that the city purchase a lot on Lafayette road, 150 feet frontage and 200 feet deep containing 30,000 square feet. This adjoins the lot of Thomas A. Ward which he has so generously presented to the city for a play ground in connection with the school house, making in all the largest lot of land owned by the city for school purposes.

The report was accepted on motion of Councilman Bethwick, who introduced a resolution making an appropriation of $1500 from funds available for the purchase of the lot from the Consolidation Coal Company, and this was passed under a suspension of the rules by a unanimous vote.

Councilman Verne Wood asked that the city Solicitor in drawing up the deed see that the deed include a proposed street, which separated the Ward and Consolidation Co. lot and which was offered to the city, but not accepted, be included in the deed. The Mayor was authorized to draw his warrant for the lot when the deeds were ready.

On motion of Councilman Bennett the Mayor was authorized to appoint a building committee from the Council to act in conjunction with a committee of the Board of Instruction.

A petition of Miss Sallie Hovey of the Equal Suffrage League, for permission to hold an open air meeting on Market Square Saturday evening was granted on motion of Councilman Duncan on the condition that the meeting be held on the North church side.

The quarterly report of the Board of Public Works was read and accepted. The report was short, showing the expenditures on streets and water department for the quarter, and a statement of the works, which it was explained was small, owing to the severe winter and late spring.

A petition of the Rockingham County Light and Power Co. for a pole location on the corner of Chestnut and Congress streets was granted on motion of Councilman Dowdell on the approval of the Inspector of Water and Power.

City Clerk Drew read a list of petitions which had already been acted upon by the Board of Public Works and permits granted. One was from Valentine Hest to move a 40-ton piece of machinery from the freight depot to the Rockingham Light and Power Co.

WHEN CLAUDIA SMILES

Blanche Ring, that delightfully unusual comedienne who not only sings songs in a way that is all her own, but who makes her audience sing with her whether they can sing or not, comes to the Shubert Theatre, Boston for a limited engagement, beginning Tuesday night, following an engagement at the Thirty-ninth street and Lyric Theatres, New York, where the new song play with girls, "When Claudia Smiles," was pronounced a typical Broadway show. Anne Caldwell, author of "The Lady of the Slipper," is responsible for the bright lines and amusing situations with which the piece abounds, and Blanche and Stammer provided most of the tuneful melodies that are scattered through the three acts. The curtain rises on the foyer of the famous Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, and the play proceeds without the "opening choruses" of the typical musical comedy. It is not in fact, until the appearance of Claudia Rogers, a fascinating and extremely well dressed show girl, that the beauty chorus gets their opportunity to become prominent. Claudia's ex-husband, Johnny Rogers, a wine agent, happens along just in time to exchange a few pleasantries and indulge in a mild flirtation with his former wife, and then two ardent admirers of the actress, both wealthy bachelors who have reached an age that make their avocation appear ridiculous to everyone but themselves, begin making trouble. Act second, shows Claudia's delightfully furnished and very attractive boudoir. It is a busy day for Claudia who is interrupted by all sorts of persons, from the two admirers, each of whom think the other her papa, to a jealous wife accompanied by the police and most of the principals in the cast. Peace is restored, however, in the third act where everyone is back at the Ritz-Carlton, and a ten-dance-out is in progress. This serves however, not only to introduce some very amusing illustrations of modern dancing, but also the latest society craze, the colored wigs introduced in London by Mrs. George Keppell. It is in this act also, that Miss Ring sings her latest song hit, "Why is the Ocean So Near the Shore."

In the excellent cast, supporting the comedienne are Mary Connor, Charles J. Winniger, Harry Hillard, Nahlon Hamilton, John J. Scannell, R. M. Doherty, Mrs. Charles J. Craig, Bertha Mann, Beatrice Moreland, Peggy Courday, Helen A. Moyn, Claire Bertrand, Rue Daly, Eva Stuart, Dolores Parquette and Ivy Paget.

QUIMET HAS STARTED WELL

Sandwich, Eng. April 9.—A victory in a four-hole match was won here today by Francis Quimet of Brookline, Mass., open golf champion of the United States, and Arthur G. Lockwood, ex-amateur champion of Massachusetts. They played against the Marquis of Athlone and Lord Charles Hope, his brother, whom the Americans defeated by five holes up and four to play.

Quimet's outward card registered 40 strokes and his homeward total was 43.

The match was played in a boisterous wind.

Lord Charles Hope won the amateur championship of France last year by beating B. A. Lassen, a former British champion, at the fifth hole.

AMERICANS BEATEN

Westward 110, Devonshire, Eng. April 9.—A defeat was suffered today by Jerome D. Travers, former amateur golf champion of the United States, and Frederick Herreschoff of New York in a foursome on the links here. Their opponents were H. H. Dears Scott and Capt. H. Hinds, both of the Royal North Devon Club, who beat the Americans by 4 holes up and 2 to play.

OF GREAT USE IN BREAKING UP COLDS

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is a Thing Long Desired.

Every one knows the value of castor oil in breaking up fall and winter colds, but most people have found it too hard to take.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil does away with this only objection. It is pure, simple castor oil, without taste or odor. Nothing is added; nothing good is taken out.

In making castor oil tasteless, Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo have discovered a secret that had eluded chemists for 3000 years.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil works better than the old evil-tasting, evil-smelling kind. It operates pleasantly; without griping, and does not upset the stomach. Children take it easily.

Do not confuse Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil with prepared, mixed or puffed, tasteless kind. Sold in all drug stores, not in bulk, but in 2oz and 5oz sizes. The public is protected by the trade mark—a green castor leaf, bearing the signature—Kellogg's.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, oil refiners.

SENATOR LODGE STANDS WITH PRESIDENT ON CANAL TOLL REPEAL

Washington, April 9.—Complicated by the closest attention on the part of the members of the Senate, Senator Lodge delivered today his speech supporting President Wilson on the bill to repeal the provision for exemption of American coastwise vessels from paying tolls in the Panama Canal.

The announcement that Senator Lodge would speak today had created wide spread interest and the galleries of the Senate chamber were filled when the Massachusetts Senator took the floor. Just before entering the Senate chamber Senator Lodge remarked that never in his experience had there been so great a demand from the press of the country for advance copies of a speech as in this instance.

The White House telephoned to Senator Lodge's office this morning to ask what time he would begin speaking. Miss Hagner, Mrs. Wilson's secretary was one of the early arrivals. Mrs. Lodge, with a party of friends, was in the reserved gallery.

"Outlaw Among the Nations"

In endorsing President Wilson's request that Congress repeal the exemption section of the Panama Canal Act Senator Lodge said: "I should be faithful to the principles I have always cherished if I did not now give him unreserved support."

Senator Lodge made what is regarded as the most impressive and powerful discussion of the tolls issue that has been heard. The Senator made an eloquent appeal to the Senate to respect the view of the Chief Executive of the Nation on what was necessary to save the United States from being held, as the Senator expressed it, "an outlaw among the Nations of the world."

Unlike others who have advocated the repeal of the toll exemption, Senator Lodge maintained that the United States had the right to exempt its own vessels if it saw fit, as this discrimination was not prohibited by the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. But he argued that the intention of those who framed the treaty was to hold the canal open to ships of all the world on equal terms, and it being so interpreted by other Nations, the United States was in honor bound to recognize this universal understanding of the intent of the treaty.

"Not the Owner of the Canal Zone"

Drawing upon his knowledge of the diplomatic history of the United States, Senator Lodge explained the objects of the several treaties dealing with the subject of a canal, both at Nicaragua and Panama. After asserting that the United States was not the owner of the Canal Zone but only the custodian for the world, the Senator said, in part:

"There can be no doubt as a general proposition that the United States having built the canal in territory which is its own for canal purposes, can determine the conditions for the use of the canal except so far as it has limited that right by contract with other Nations. The limitations of that right, if they exist, must be found in Article III of the second Hay-Pauncefote Treaty and in the treaty with Panama, which embodies the rules of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty."

"On the face of the treaty it is not apparent that the United States regarded itself as one of its own customers, and it seems unreasonable to suppose that when five out of six of the treaty rules do not apply to the United States the sixth was intended to apply."

"At this point, however, I must company with those who insist that because we have the right to refuse to collect tolls from or to exempt our own vessels from the payment of tolls we therefore should exercise that right."

"The existence of a right and its exercise are two very different things. Either as individuals or as a Nation we may possess certain undoubted rights and yet it might well be that it would be the height of unwisdom to exercise them. In this case it appears to me that it would be most unwise to exercise the right of exempting our own vessels from tolls simply because we have the right to do so. We must be convinced not only that we have the right, but that it is necessary and expedient to exercise it before we put the right in force. The reasons against our exercising this right, which I believe we possess, are to me conclusive."

"In the first place, there is a wide and honest division of opinion as to the correct interpretation of the first rule of Article III of the treaty and as to the words 'all Nations' with such a division of opinion among ourselves I am not willing to expose the United States to the imputation of bad faith among all other Nations by insisting on deciding a doubtful point upon which we ourselves are not agreed, in our own favor simply because we have the power to do so. In the larger consideration of our position among the Nations of the earth I think it would be a great mistake, with a divided public opinion at home, to insist upon our own interpretation of the treaty as an interpretation which the rest of the world does not accept."

blument of the sword.

"He must feel, I think, that by our action, considered in other lands to be in disregard of treaty obligations, we are raising a serious obstacle to the development of closer trade relations with the countries of South America, which are so important to us on every ground. These reasons, which I think must also be very weighty with the President seem to me not only sound but convincing."

"Too Powerful to Be Subservient"

"The outcry about exhibiting subservient to Great Britain or any other country because we see fit to repeal the tolls seems to me hardly worthy of serious consideration. The United States is altogether too great and too powerful to be subservient to any one and the mere fact of suggesting it seems to me to indicate an uneasy suspicion on the part of those from whom it emanates not only of the validity of their position but of the power and greatness of their own country, as to which I, for one, am troubled by no doubt."

"As I have listened to some recent stirring declarations of our utter fearlessness, of our readiness to face a world in arms in defense of toll exemption, about which noble cause no country would think of fighting, there have been moments when I have marvelled as I thought of the coolness and indifference with which we have contemplated the murder of more than 150 Americans not many miles from our own border. The violated rights, the unavenged, the almost unnoticed deaths of those innocent people have seemed to make heroes out of equal tolls, where there is no peril to any one, peculiarly out of place."

"If we give our ships the money to pay the tolls and the ships then return that money to the Treasury of the United States, there is no greater charge upon the Treasury than if the vessels go through without the payment of tolls. The vital difference is that one method of relieving our ships from the payment of tolls is admitted by everyone to be legitimate while the legality of the other method is disputed."

Opinions of Treaty Negotiators.

"Whatever our opinion may be as to the strict legal interpretation of the rules governing the matter of tolls imposed upon vessels passing through the canal, we can not and we ought not to overlook the understanding of those who negotiated the treaty as to the intent and effect of the rules which they framed. As to the nature of the understanding we have direct testimony."

"Mr. Henry White, who first laid before the British Government the desire of the United States to enter into negotiations for the suppression of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty has stated that Lord Salisbury expressed to him the entire willingness of England to remove all obstacles which the Clayton-Bulwer treaty put in the way of the construction of the canal, and desired only to maintain equality of tolls imposed upon all vessels including those of the United States. Mr. Choate, who, as I have said, completed the negotiations which resulted in the second Hay-Pauncefote treaty, has publicly stated that the understanding at that time of both parties was as same as that given by Mr. White."

"The only other American concerned in the actual negotiation of the treaty was the late Mr. Hay, at that time Secretary of state. I know that Mr. Hay's view was the same as that of Mr. Choate and Mr. White. It is therefore clear on the testimony of our three negotiations that the negotiations as they were begun and as they were completed in the second Hay-Pauncefote treaty proceeded on the clear understanding that there was to be no discrimination in the tolls imposed as between the vessels of any Nation, including the vessels of the United States."

"I am well aware that an understanding of this sort, although an aid perhaps to interpretation, does not bind legally. But there is such a thing as honor in agreements and transactions between Nations as there is in agreements between individuals. To the individual man his personal honor appears in a clearer light than National honor to the man acting in a representative capacity. It is regrettable that this should ever be so, but I think there can be no doubt that at certain times it is the fact."

"Respect to Opinions of Mankind"

"I suppose that at this moment, in the midst of the ardently stimulated passions raised against the President's recommendation that we should repeal the toll exemption, it will be thought very poor-spirited, and even tracking—I believe that is the accepted word—to suggest that in deciding this question we should take into consideration the opinions of other Nations. Nevertheless, I consider this a very important element in any decision which I may reach, and I am encouraged to believe that I am right in so thinking because I have the warrant and authority of the author of the Declaration of Independence. When Jefferson framed that great instrument he declared that the impelling reason or making the Declaration was a decent respect to the opinions of mankind. That decent respect to the opinions of mankind ought never to be forgotten in the decision of any question which involves the relations of our own country with the other Nations of the earth."

"The President, must be, I believe, satisfied as I am satisfied, that other Nations will hesitate long before they will enter upon treaties with a country which insists on deciding all disputed points in treaties in its own favor by a majority vote of Congress. It would not surprise me to learn that the President is of opinion that such disputed points ought to be settled as we have settled them in the past, with which, as a historian, he is familiar, either by negotiation or by arbitration, and not, by our own votes without appeal and open only to the arbitrament of the sword."

AMERICAN BADLY DAMAGED IN BOSTON HARBOR

Boston, April 9.—The British steamer American, which struck on the ledge near Boston Light, while outward bound, for Barcelona, Tuesday night, and was floated and towed to an anchorage in the harbor yesterday, was floated into the dry dock at East Boston this morning. Owing to a heavy port list it was necessary to run a tackle to her masthead to pull her up to an even keel.

Lloyd's Surveyor, John S. Heck, and Charles Stentenberg, representing the owners, made an examination of the damaged vessel as soon as the water was pumped out of the dock this afternoon. It was found that the steamer's bottom is seriously damaged. Many of the steel plates are punctured and broken, while others are badly indented. The most serious damage appeared to be at the turn of the bilges, on the port side.

For almost the entire length the plates show where the steamer pounded over the sharp ledge. The seaward under the engine room was broken off and it was through this aperture that the greatest volume of water poured into the hold.

A tug stood by the steamer all last night with her heavy steam pump in operation, and the water in the hold was lowered perceptibly.

EVERY SUBURBAN HOMESHOULD HAVE A VEGETABLE GARDEN

Washington, D. C., April 9.—A half acre devoted to the various kinds of garden crops would easily supply a family with one hundred dollars' worth of vegetables during the year. A bountiful supply of really fresh vegetables close at hand, however, is of more importance even than the money value, says Farmers Bulletin 255 on the Home Vegetable Garden. The home vegetable garden, therefore, is worthy of special attention and should include a greater number and variety of crops.

Where there is considerable choice in the location of the garden plot, it is often possible to select land that will require very little special preparation. On the other hand, it may be necessary to take an undesirable soil and bring it into suitable condition, and it is generally surprising to note the change that can be wrought in a single season.

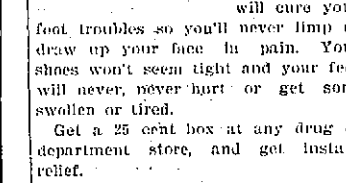

Good drainage of the garden area is of primary importance. It is desirable that the land have sufficient fall to drain off surplus water during heavy times, but the fall should not be so great that the soil would be washed. The surface of the garden should not contain depressions in which water will accumulate and stand. Waste water from surrounding land should not be allowed to drain upon the garden. A good fence around the garden spot is indispensable and it should be a safeguard against all animals, especially poultry. A tight board fence will accomplish this result and also serve as a windbreak.

The kind of fertilizer employed has a marked influence on the character and quality of the vegetable produced. Fertilizers of organic composition, such as barnyard manure, should be passed through the fermenting stage before being used. Well-rotted barnyard manure has no equal as a fertilizer for garden crops. Chicken, pig, and sheep manure rank high as fertilizers, and manure from fowls is especially adapted for dropping in the hills or rows of plants.

When it is time for plowing hard or stiff clay soils especially if in a part of the country where freezing takes place, as the action of the frost during the winter will break the soil into fine particles and render it suitable for planting. Sandy loams and soils that contain a large amount of humus may be plowed in the spring, but the work should be done early in order that the soil may settle before planting.

Sandy soils will bear plowing much earlier than heavy clay soils. The usual test is to squeeze together a handful, and if the soil adheres in a ball it is too wet for working. In the garden greater depth of plowing should be practiced than for ordinary farm crops, as the roots of many vegetables grow deeply into the soil. Subsoiling will be found advantageous in most cases as the drainage and general movement of the soil moisture will be improved thereby.

Hand sowing should be resorted to only in very small gardens or where it is desirable to prepare a small area very thoroughly.

After plowing, the next important step is to smooth and pulverize the soil. If the soil be well prepared before planting the work of caring for the crops will be very materially lessened. It is not sufficient that the land be smooth and fine on top, but the pulverizing process should extend as deep as the plowing.

In planning the location of the various crops in the garden, due consideration should be given to the matter of succession in order that the land may be occupied at all times. As a rule it would not be best to have a second planting of the same crop follow the first, but some such arrangement as early peas followed by celery, or early cabbage or potatoes followed by late beans or corn, and similar combinations, are more satisfactory.

Garden seeds should always be sown in straight rows regardless of where the planting is made. By planting in this manner the seedlings will be more uniform in size and shape, and thinning and cultivating will be more easily accomplished. In the control of insects and diseases that infect garden crops it is often possible to accomplish a great amount of good by careful sanitary arrangement. Some of the vegetables among the garden varieties that are comparatively easily cultivated are: artichoke, asparagus, beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, cantaloupe, carrot, cauliflower, cucumber, sweet corn, cress, eggplant, endive, potatoes, lettuce, okra, spinach, parsnip, peas, pepper, squash and onions.

For growing certain crops, it has often been found advisable to prepare the ground in a special manner. Such crops as beets, radishes, and onions are sometimes grown on beds 6 to 10 feet in width and raised 6 to 8 inches, with narrow walks between. From Baltimore southward, cabbage, cauliflower, and similar crops are frequently grown on top or on the sides of ridges. When the plants are set on top of the ridge better drainage for the roots is secured. When set on the south side of the ridge, greater warmth, and earlier maturity will be secured, and the growth is retarded. For growing celery and a few similar crops it has been found advisable to place the plants in furrows or slight trenches in order that the soil removed may be available for sowing in around the plants in future.

AVING GOOD RESULTS WITH RADIUM

Reelin, April 9.—Prof. Czerny, a celebrated Heidelberg surgeon, published in the current number of the Deutsche Revue a summary of the results observed by him in 4000 cases of cancer treated by radium since 1906.

His conclusion is that cures have unambiguously been effected by means of radium and mesothorium, although they have been permanent in only some of the cases.

Prof. Czerny favors the acquisition by the Imperial Government of large supplies of radio-active substances for hospitals entitled to the benefits of the state insurance system.

He thinks it premature to substitute radium for operations, and favors the removal of cancers by the knife and then the application of radium for the prevention of a recurrence of the growth. Prof. Czerny treats superficial cancer with mesothorium.

Check the Symptoms of Lung Trouble

One of the many reasons why Lung Trouble is so difficult to fight is because the disease is often of a very insidious nature. The patient may look well, but in reality is fast losing strength by continued night sweats, fever and cough. These symptoms should be checked as quickly as possible. Eckman's Alternative is beneficial in checking fever and night sweats and it has brought about many complete recoveries. Read this case:

"Gentlemen: I am writing you this testimonial that others may know what Eckman's Alternative has done for me. I was a very young woman I was a sufferer from bronchitis. I tried doctor after doctor, getting little or no benefit. Finally I had night sweats, weak spells and lost rapidly in weight and my doctor told me if they were not checked I would have Lung Trouble. Miss Mary Korbman, who is a friend of mine, recovered after taking your Alternative and insisted that I try it. I am now, after two years, perfectly well, strong and healthy."

(Allardt.) MRS. ROSA VOELKRELL. (Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Asthma, Stomach Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet, calling for recovery to Eckman's Alternative Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. ### Lincoln Progressive Club Entertains G. A. R. on Anniversary of Lee's Surrender

The Lincoln Progressive Club celebrated the 90th anniversary of the surrender of Lee in U. V. U. hall on Thursday evening in honor of the G. A. R. the remnant of the 2,759,015 men who served in the Union Army and Navy from April 1861 to April, 1865. The order is 48 years old this week, formed at Decatur, Ill. with a list of four members, now has 5,000 posts. The order reached the high water mark in 1899, with a membership of 400,489. Today it has been reduced by death to less than 170,000, the death rate increasing each year, for the average age of the veteran of the Civil war is 69 years. Among the objects of the G. A. R. is to inculcate patriotism among the American people. Their mission is a laudable one. Next to the love of the Creator, patriotism is one of the highest and noblest affections of the human soul. The G. A. R. not only saved the Union, but has striven to perpetuate it.

The order of exercises was as follows: Address, "The Day We Celebrate," President Frank H. Melton, Lincoln Progressive Leader. Mr. Simon Katz, Jr. Address, "Those Who Saw Clearly from Sumpter to Appomattox," Oliver L. Friesbee, Ducl, "Gently the Breeze Blow," Rev. E. P. Moulton and Mr. Solon M. Boynton. Address, "What Appomattox Meant to the Colored Race," Haywood M. Burton. Vocal solo, "Twenty Years Ago," Mr. Solon M. Boynton. Address, "We Need Statesmen in 1914, as we Needed Them in 1861-1865," Rev. E. P. Moulton. Selection, "Stars of the Summer Night," by male quartet, W. T. Dull, Dr. J. G. Garland, Haywood M.
